WHAT THE DICKENS!

Bristol Hippodrome was the last of 194 theatres designed or refurbished by Frank Matcham.

The opening performance at the Hippodrome featured a melodrama called The Sands O'Dee, which was an amazing water spectacular, featuring a tank filled with 10,000 gallons of water and diving horses.

The theatre survived the war, but in 1948 a fire ripped through the stage with flames that reached 30ft high.
